Women's Forum Brings Out All the Candidates

May 04, 2010

For the first time this election season, all six candidates for Governor in RI were on one stage at the same time - at a women's forum at the Lincoln School in Providence on Tuesday.

All of the candidates voiced their concerns and ideas for the economy of Rhode Island, and the desperate need to create more jobs in the state.

ABC6 News Reporter Tom Langford was at the forum, and has this report.
